

We the people of Orcus, in order to form a more perfect union, insure tranquility for every citizen with equal rights. Provides a health and safe living environment for all citizens. Offering justice, privacy, and seclusion of all people to secure a subservient environment for the citizens of Orcus.

1. The Freedom of religion, speech, and press-

All citizens withhold the right to freedom of speech, of the press, also freedom to practice any religion or beliefs. Citizens also have the right to peacefully assemble and petition. The people have a right to fight for resolution of tranquility.

2. Denied right to bear arms

Citizens should not have the authority to have armed weapons but should have a firm hand in the regulations of the law.

3. Tranquility of living

No person shall ever be denied the right to live or visit the country of Orcus.

4. A safe living environment

The people of Orcus are assured to be living in a clean environment where they can be protected from dangerous chemicals and some sort of pollution. It's important we keep a safe environment for the health of the animals and humans who live in Orcus.

5. Seclusion of the people

The seclusion of the people of Orcus will not be interfered by government officials that secure your privacy from searching your house.

6. The right to remain silent

If one makes a statement that could potentially be used against them in court as evidence, they can keep their silence from being incriminated.

7. Invasion of Privacy

The government shall follow the inflexible rules and regulations for privacy.

8. The right to jury a trial

Have more than one outlook on someone's case instead of just one opinion. It's important to get all points of view before giving punishment from just one perspective.

9. Protect citizens under cruel punishments

A person accused of non cruel infliction has the right to go through the process of trials and shall not be given false punishments.

10. The community makes final decisions

The supreme court shall make decisions then the people of Orcus should be able to vote for the way they want their community to be run.

My perspective of my constitution:

For my second Apollo project, I decided to build a new world without pollution. For the social studies part, I created a constitution for my country. I used the United States of America's constitution as a reference from my constitution. While doing research, I looked at a bunch of different documents that I thought would be important when writing my constitution. Some of the documents I looked at were the Mayflower compact, the Virginia House of Burgesses, and the Constitution. For my research, I did basic research on pollution. I also did research on the different types of governments, then picked a government after I got a better understanding of all of them.

When writing my first amendment, I choose to do the freedom of speech, religion, and press. I believe it's important for everyone to express their opinions in their own ways. That's why I believe freedom of speech is the most important amendment in the constitution. The next couple of amendments are to keep the citizens of Orcus safe. It's important to have peace throughout the whole country and zero violence.

Amendment four was based on pollution. It's most important in my opinion to live in a safe and healthy environment. When living in this country, we want to keep everyone healthy even the animals living in the environment.

The next couple of amendments are about the privacy of the citizens. This means everyone can be their own individual and not be interfered with the government. Amendment eight and nine are about crime in the country. These amendments basically state that everyone has the right to a jury, so they get more than one opinion for their case. The protection of cruel punishment is also important. While writing these amendments, I decided to follow the US amendment as a reference for some parts.

The last amendment I feel is pretty important as well. My chosen type of government was a republican type of government. Because power is held by the people who elect representatives that manage the government for the people for the common good. I feel this is a good type of government because the person elected making laws for the common good isn't just one person, but a whole group of people from the community. Also the citizens have a say in their government, the people can communicate with representatives about their ideas and actions they want for their community. People are dependent on representatives for creating fair laws. If not, people will vote them out of office in order to select a new leader. I personally think this is important because everybody has a say from the community.